

Our Philosophy

“Grey, my friend, is all theory, and green the golden tree of life”

Goethe

Can we dream to remake the world? Of course, yes and even more. Let's move forward and make our dreams come true! During my various trips throughout the globe, I have seen people from every walk of life doing their utmost to assist and protect the needy poor. I have also seen children from nowhere gambling here and there, nobody caring of them. Official bodies have their own priorities and are not in a position to do everything, nor can NPOs. We believe that civil society has its role to play to set up a “Change For The Better”. Strong in this argument, we have found ASSISTOR-NPO with the idea to be involved on the forefront and to contribute actively to the institution of this change.

ASSISTOR-NPO is a not-for profit organization. This organization is independent from political, religious or business interests. ASSISTOR-NPO maintains its independence by completely funding and performing its programs with the practical and monetary contributions of volunteers and donors.

As a development assistance organization, ASSISTOR-NPO will endeavour to set up its own projects. In addition, it will seek to develop partnerships particularly in the "Third World" with a view to take part in projects and actions in compliance with its aims and purposes.

Hence, ASSISTOR-NPO shall endeavour to provide advice and expertise to non-profit sector, in particular in the Third World, as a mean to improve the contribution this sector can make to address challenges faced by local communities.

We believe that non profit organizations have a prominent role to play in the establishment of a sustainable future. We consider that the non profit sector shares the responsibility of providing the appropriate efforts to achieve this goal.

At the same time, ASSISTOR-NPO is ready to work together with those that NGOs activities affect (private sector, government, international organizations, etc.) as we consider that cooperative relationships between non profits, public sector and business community is a point of a paramount significance to start up a “New Age”.

Commitment to service is among our principles. Hence, we shall endeavour to deliver to all our partners appropriate services in line with good practices and ethical standards. Also, we shall share our knowledge and work as facilitator so that our colleagues get better chances to implement their programs and in our view, commitment to people is a central issue to achieve an organization's objectives and aspirations.

Organizational success depends on valuing people contribution and promoting an inclusive work environment for optimal development effectiveness, therefore, more empowerment has to be granted to professionals in the development sector, in particular those delivering their mission in the “Transitional World”, to make their work more efficient.

Our core values include: Trustfulness and Credibility, Responsibility to the Public, Cooperation Beyond Boundaries, Respect for Human Rights, Transparency and Accountability, Public Mindedness.
